

H/W -Year 6

Using Ratio Language		Using Ratio Language
4a. Pippa has a bag of balloons. There are 3 blue balloons for every 6 green balloons. She says,  Is she correct? Explain how you know. ☆	4b. Millie has a bag of sweets. There are 6 pink sweets for every 8 orange sweets. She says,  Is she correct? Explain how you know. ☆	7a. Arlo has some fruit to the ratio of 1 lemon for every 4 limes and 3 satsumas. He says,  Is he correct? Explain how you know. ☆	7b. Chen has some fruit to the ratio of 2 bananas for every 3 grapes and 4 apples. He says,  Is he correct? Explain how you know. ☆
5a. Jake has a bag of shopping containing apples and pears. There are 14 pieces of fruit altogether.  Write 3 different sentences which show the possible ratios of the fruit. ☆	5b. Yusuf has a bag of shopping containing bananas and plums. There are 20 pieces of fruit altogether.  Write 3 different sentences which show the possible ratios of the fruit. ☆	8a. Euan has some red, blue and yellow counters. There are 4 blue counters for every red counter, and 16 counters altogether. Write all the possible sentences to show how many of each counter Euan may have. ☆	8b. Toby has some red, blue and yellow counters. There are 5 blue counters for every 2 red counters, and 25 counters altogether. Write all the possible sentences to show how many of each counter Toby may have. ☆
6a. Jaxon and Kai are looking at the relationship between strawberries and lemons.  Jaxon thinks that if there was 1 lemon, there would be 2 strawberries. Kai thinks that if there was 1 strawberry, there would be 2 lemons. Who is correct? Explain how you know. ☆	6b. Isla and Ivy are looking at the relationship between tomatoes and chillies.  Isla thinks that if there were 3 chillies, there would be 2 tomatoes. Ivy thinks that if there were 1 tomato, there would be 2 chillies. Who is correct? Explain how you know. ☆	9a. Alfie and Ethan have some blue, green and red counters. There are 3 blue counters for every green counter and 30 counters altogether. Alfie thinks that if there were 15 blue counters, there would be 5 green counters and 10 red counters. Ethan thinks that if there were 20 blue counters, there would be 4 green counters and 6 red counters. Who is correct? Explain how you know. ☆	9b. Jess and Rosie have some blue, green and red counters. There are 6 blue counters for every 4 green counters and 50 counters altogether. Jess thinks that if there were 18 blue counters, there would be 12 green counters and 20 red counters. Rosie thinks that if there were 24 blue counters, there would be 12 green counters and 14 red counters. Who is correct? Explain how you know. ☆

Expected

GD

Please can you read and write your times table from 3,4,5,6,7,8,9,11,12.

Write all the prime numbers up to 20.

Factor numbers of 48, 60, 72, 84, 96.

Can you see a pattern?